About ORD

The Office of Research Development, a component of the FSU Office of the Vice President for Research, serves as a resource for faculty seeking grant support.

Our Mission

The Office of Research Development's mission is to strengthen research competitiveness at FSU. To this end, we are devoted to equipping researchers for success, building connections, investing in promising new ideas and researchers, and promoting a culture which helps research to flourish.

Workshops

ORD conducts grant-related workshops and programs that provide faculty with best practices in grantsmanship. Additionally, ORD hosts interdisciplinary research networking events—Collaborative Collisions—that build personal connections among researchers who are working on similar topic areas. ORD can also create smaller collaborative events at the request of faculty.

Focused Assistance for New Faculty

ORD offers one-on-one meetings to all new faculty. During these sessions, we can learn about your research and discuss strategies to provide a research roadmap to take you from your first semester on campus to tenure.

Proposal Development

ORD provides project management services for grant proposals. This includes development of proposal management plans, analysis of competitive intelligence, and development and execution of winning proposal strategies.

Council on Research and Creativity Support

ORD provides for the coordination and administration of the Council on Research & Creativity (CRC) and its programs. In addition to being an advisory committee for the Vice President for Research, the CRC sponsors eight internal grant programs and four honorary programs for faculty funding.
